

The Supreme Judicial Court

Justice Albert M. Spear, Presiding

Henry Andrews Marr, a native of Kent, N.S., and a resident of Belfast, was admitted to citizenship last Wednesday. The first civil case was that of Herbert Thomas of Lincolnville vs. Ezra A. Thomas of Brooks to recover $2500 damages as balance due plaintiff on a contract for sawing lumber on the A. A. and John G. Brooks lots in Belfast. Mr. Marr presented the standing order on each lot. The case occupied the court a part of Thursday. The jury brought in a verdict of $265.46. A motion for a new trial has been filed. The defense claimed that the lumber did not measure the Mathews Mill, where he sold it, all plaintiff claimed. Ritchie for plaintiff; Eaton & Morse for defendant.

The second jury trial was opened Thursday morning when Ansel L. Kelley brought against Elmer E. Flagg of Belfast to recover on a promissory note for $75 covering the sale of a wagon, a rifle, and a gun. The defense claimed that the note had been paid. The jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $83.30. Judge Chipman for plaintiff; Fred Waldo for defendant.

One of the most important and interesting cases for many terms was opened Friday afternoon, occupied the Court day Friday and was given to the jury at 10 a. m. It was an action to recover $80,000 damages for alleged deceit in what are well known as the Banks & McIntire farms on Belmont avenue in Belfast, with James F. Findley and John J. Childress vs. J. Henry Morris, the Belfast Savings Bank, City National Bank and Trust Company, and trustees. Andrews, Nelson, & Palmer of Augusta were for the plaintiffs and Judge Clyde R. Chapman of Belfast for the defendants. Congressman H. E. Nelson examined the witnesses and made the plea. Colonel William Gardner in presenting the case claimed deceit in the sale, that the farms were $80,000 when it was really worth out $4,000 or $5,000; that the defendant had there were 1600 apple trees, but it contained 94; that he had 1300 apple trees which produced 600 barrels of standard apples, but there are actual count 1800 less than the defendant's claim; that the defendant had produced only about 100 barrels annually. The defendant claimed that $4,000 could be cleared from the farms annually, but the plaintiffs have been unable to clear $2,000; it was claimed that 40 to 45 tons of hay could be cut, but the plaintiffs say that the farms is all that they have been able to harvest. The farms were claimed to be fenced with barbed wire, but were not buildings were not in good repair or in a good dry as claimed. The defense Judge Chapman was a general denial. Mr. Findley was here for the past three years, came here from Wilmington, Del. where they were engaged in railroad work, former as an engineer and the latter a fireman. They bought the farms through Roy C. Fish, local agent for the trout Agency, after seeing the description and picture in their catalogue. Mr. Childress has been here for the past three years and Mr. Findley came in January, 22, having been pensioned after 37 years' service. The plaintiff's side called three witnesses and the defense about 15 witnesses. Mr. Morris stated that he bought the farms in 1905, coming here on the Annapolis Valley, N. S., that he had not seen the Strout catalogue and that he thought his farms were what he aimed. The case was ably presented, refuted, conducted, clearly and forcefully argued by both sides, while the charge Judge Spear was all that plaintiffs and defendant could ask for or the jury needed. After being out about four hours the jury reported a verdict for the plaintiffs for $1,016.85.

The case of George L. Gould et al. vs. John M. McLaughlin, Stockton Springs, occupied the Court Monday a part of Tuesday morning. It was another case of claiming deceit in the purchase of a farm in Stockton Springs, generally known as the Spinnage place, with damages assessed at $3,000. The plaintiffs claimed that they had been deceived principally in regard to the number on the place, the number of acres and who the land was owned by. The defense was a general denial. R. Frank Springer of Lisbon Falls, a former Belfast boy, appeared for the plaintiffs and H. C. Buzzell for the defendant. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiffs with $1720 damages.

A verdict of $1065.50 was rendered in the case of A. W. Dean, Unity, vs. W. S. Given & Co., Bowdoinham. The action was brought to recover on 1200 bushels of potatoes at 80 cents per bushel, some of which were damaged by fire when the building, in which they were stored, was burned. Buzzell & Thornton for plaintiff; Ernest McLain of Augusta for defendant. Motion for new trial filed.

The counter divorce libels of Harry W. and Bertha J. Littlefield, assigned for trial, will be held Thursday. Eben F. Littlefield, Cong. John E. Nelson of Augusta and A. L. Blanchard of Bangor are attorneys for the former, it is alleged, with about 45 witnesses. Buzzell & Thornton with large number of witnesses are for Mrs. Littlefield.

The action to recover on the sale of five cords of wood was brought by Fred and Charles P. Adams vs. Charles Barnes, the Oxford Paper Company and Walter Fish, trustees. Verdict for defts. Dunton & Morse for plaintiffs; Chapman for defendants.

The case of Charles F. Bersey vs. Joseph A. Wing, assigned for trial, was not suited.

Buzzell & Thornton received a verdict of $60 in a suit to recover on legal services of George O. Danforth of Freedom.

Cases Disposed Of.

The following cases assigned were disposed of without trials:

M. M. Krickorian of New Britain, Ct., vs. William H. Arnold and Waldo Trust Co., Trustee of Belfast, continued. This was a suit brought to recover for a carload of apples which the plaintiff contends was not as represented. Damages of $300.

Inhabitants of Frankfort vs. Dallas C. Glidden for taxes. Defaulted by agreement.

Frank L. Whitten vs. Lester C. Eaton, promissory note of $259.58. Settled by agreement.

Jerome Webb of Knox vs. Harry McKinney of Clinton, defaulted. Action on account of $101.63.

Earl Howes of Montville vs. Payson Rich of Lewiston was continued. The action was to recover balance of $38.96 due on sale of beef, etc.

Abram Sanson of Belfast vs. T. B. and Addie J. Boynton, Belfast. Action to recover $31.80 on sale of goods. Defaulted.

Fred G. Gray of Belfast vs. Lizzie Wentworth et al., Morrill, for balance of $32 due on promissory note. Defaulted.

Robert Farrell vs. Charles E. Wilson, Belfast parties, to recover $75 for three weeks' labor and services. Not suit was entered.

The Criminal Docket.

No indictment was found in the case of Henry Boyd of Knox held for arson at the Municipal Court and appealed to the Grand Jury.

Guy A. Gray, indicted for maintaining a liquor nuisance on Main street, retracted his plea and pleaded guilty Saturday afternoon. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail and $200 fine; in default of payment 60 days additional. He was committed.

The only criminal actions to be tried this term are the three indictments found against Walter C. Mahoney of Northport for assault, which was brought to trial Wednesday at 2 p. m. He was defended by D. L. Gould of Bangor with County Attorney Ralph I. Morse for the State.

The Indictments.

The ten indictments found by the Grand Jury after only about one day's session were as follows:

Walter C. Mahoney of Northport for criminal assault. Three counts.

James Cleland of Brooks for larceny.

Albert F. Misker of Unity for forgery.

Mack Laughlin of Houlton for larceny.

John H. Canning of Belfast for assault.

Edwidge M. Krolerson of Belfast non-support of three children.

Vernon C. Hall of Belfast for non-support of two children.

Guy A. Gray of Belfast liquor nuisance.

All with the exception of Mahoney and Gray plead guilty when arraigned Thursday afternoon.

NOTES

In regard to the report current that Judge Spear is to resign next March and that this is his last term in Waldo county, he said in an interview with The Journal reporter that he had not intimated that he would resign and had not even come to any conclusion to that effect. The report printed in several daily papers was entirely without his knowledge. His many friends in this vicinity hope to see him in his responsible position for years to come, as he is one of the State's most honorable citizens.

Guy A. Gray in an appealed liquor case was surrendered by his sureties and his bond discharged.

There were 96 new cases at this term, including 27 divorce libels.

Thomas and Hall, among those indicted, were released from day to day on bail.

MISS LENA A. SANBORN.

Not for a long time has the city been so shocked and saddened as they were early Monday morning when the news became current that Miss Lena Ada Sanborn had died at her home about 1 o'clock after a very brief illness. She had complained for about five or six days about a severe pain in her head, but Sunday attended church as usual and was on her way home after the evening service when she became severely ill with a pain in the back of her head at the base of the brain. Friends took her to a physician and later she was taken to her home. Miss Sanborn was born in Belfast, Oct. 29, 1872, the eldest daughter of Eben M. and Harriet A. (Johnson) Sanborn, and was one of the most highly respected and beloved by all who knew her. For many years she was the bookkeeper in Charles F. Swift's grocery store and later went to the office of the Belfast Water Co., as bookkeeper, holding that position at the time of her death. For many years she was one of the most loyal and devoted members of the Methodist church and its allied societies. Fond of music and possessed of a strong contralto voice she was a valuable member of her choir. During the past week she had made plans to attend the Music Festival in Bangor which had bought tickets for the course, planning to go with a life-long friend, Miss Edith M. Davidson. Her parents and four sisters survive to mourn the loss of a most devoted daughter and sister, Miss Mildred E. Sanborn of Belfast, Miss Essie M. Sanborn, a district nurse in Tennessie, Mrs. Margaret M. Sanborn and Mrs. Winifred J. Mudgett, both of Belfast. The funeral was held at her late home Wednesday at 3 o'clock with her pastor, Rev. Charles W. Martin, and a former pastor, Rev. Albert E. Luce of Houlton, officiating. The bearers were Frank E. and Ralph A. Bramhall, Clarence E. Frost and Benj. H. Mudgett.

MRS. JOSEPH TYLER.

Emma F., wife of Joseph Tyler, died Saturday morning at the home on High street after a long illness which she bore with unusual grace and fortitude. It was always her endeavor to make those about her happy, even when in pain. She was born in Vinal-haven Dec. 15, 1854, the daughter of Winslow and Mary (Lindsay) Hopkins. Aside from her bereaved husband her nearest relatives are cousins. For the past forty years she had resided in Belfast, where she leaves very many friends. Her only child, Emma J., died in early life, a grief her parents never recovered from. For many years Mrs. Tyler had been a constant attendant at the Unitarian church and was a loyal member of its Alliance. She was also a member of Primrose Chapter, O. E. S. The funeral took place at her late home Tuesday at 10 a. m., with Rev. William F. Skerry officiating. The interment was in Grove cemetery. The bearers were Ralph H. Howes, Dr. Wm. C. Abbey George R. Doak and Elmer A. Sherman.

The next meeting of Aurora Rebekah Lodge will be held on Tuesday evening, October 10, at 7.30. As this is the first of the regular meetings it is hoped there will be a large attendance. A special feature will be a joint birthday party for Record- ing Secretary Annie K. Adams and Financial Secretary Effie M. Harrison, the former now serving her 14th consecutive year and the latter her 21st consecutive year in this office.

C. F. Pilley is having an addition built to his residence Franklin street, giving him several rooms in the ell.

MRS. LILLA HATCH PEARSON

Mrs. Lilla Hatch Pearson entered the higher life Sept. 28, 1922. She was the only child of Isaac E. and Nellie B. Hatch, born in Knox, Sept. 29, 1867. June 26, 1894, she married Dr. I. N. Pearson and their entire married life was passed in Morrill. Early in life she experienced religion, uniting with the Baptist church in Morrill when but 16. She was always a most active and efficient worker in the church and Sunday school, always a teacher and for many years superintendent of the primary department of the Sunday school. A little over two years ago her husband was taken sick and passed away, leaving her so alone—no father, mother, sister, brother, or children—but bravely, sweetly, she took up life's burden, an object lesson to us all of the power and helpfulness of the Christian religion in the dark places of life. She carried on some of the work of her husband in the Sunday school—he was superintendent at the time of his decease—ending out her auto truck in the surrounding woods, giving prizes every winter, providing treats for the annual picnics.

Last spring she was a little ailing, but nothing serious. June 25 was the last Sunday she was at church, as she was taken sick the next week, and five days later she entered Bangor Hospital and underwent an operation, but it was not a success. She lingered along nearly three weeks, and although a great sufferer always patient and cheerful, ready and willing to go. Mrs. Pearson had a most delightful home and so many loving friends—widow and child—she was loved by all, but it was her lot to end her days away from home among strangers, with two exceptions, Sadie Achorn, R. N., went up with her and remained until the end, and Flora Murch, R. N., was on a case a part of the time in Bangor and made daily calls. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were a very devoted couple, living such a happy, busy life, and their passing was strangely alike. The doctor suffered from internal cancer, going home four days before his 55th birthday. Two years later Mrs. Pearson was taken sick, sick or about the same length of time before her 55th birthday. Her life was not a long one, but it was a full life—full of loving service for all around—full always of loyal service for her Master.

She is survived by an uncle, Mr. Preston Mears of Waldoboro, an aunt, Mrs. Edna J. Pearson, Morrill, and several cousins. She leaves no immediate family only Leona Woodbury, who for many years past has spent a large part of her time in her home, the doctor and his wife living her as a daughter. But Mrs. Pearson was related to the entire town, and the entire town and so many in adjoining towns will mourn for her and sadly miss her kindly, widely spread ministrations. The fragrance of her unselfish life will remain to bless and brighten other lives. We may not know what whys and hows should be cut off so early. We only know that God is love, and he doeth all things well. The funeral was held at the church Sunday afternoon, Oct. 1st. The church was crowded to the doors. There was a wonderful display of beautiful flowers—36 bouquets and cut flowers, and a sweetest of light, bright spirit just gone home! Dr. Mower of Waterville and the home pastor, Rev. Nathan Hunt, were the officiating clergymen, and very touching and convincing were the thoughts they presented. The music was given by the choir of Freeport, her husband, a former Morrill pastor, Dr. Mower and Wilbert Brown—the quartet, singing "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "The Sweet Bye and Bye," Mrs. Hunt, Fogd and Dr. Mower giving the benediction. The service was given by Rev. Nathan Hunt, and Mrs. Fogd sang "This is my Task."

Relatives from out of town were Mr. Preston Mears of Waldoboro, Mr. and Mrs. James Scott of Camden, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Sawyer of Augusta, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. Orris Vickers and son of Belfast, and Rev. and Mrs. Rich Pearson of Richmond, a brother of Dr. Pearson. The bearers were H. R. Wentworth, Frank Brown, Charles White and Ernest Bowen—G. E. B.

ANGELA M. HODSDON.

Miss Angela M. Hodsdon, one of Belfast's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died Friday at her home, No. 31 Cedar street. She was born in Danvers, Mass., February 19, 1832, the daughter of Rev. Frederick A. and Martha A. (Webster) Hodsdon. One sister, Miss Frances A. Hodsdon, who lived with her, survives. Of rare musical ability her entire life was devoted to the study of it. In her earlier years she sang in many of Boston's best known churches, was for over twenty-five years a member of the Handel Haydn Club of that city and for years taught both vocal and instrumental music in Boston. Her father came to Belfast in 1844 to preach and again in 1859. He preached the dedicatory sermon of the Belfast Universalist Church and was for many years its able pastor. Although not a member of the church, Miss Hodsdon was a Universalist in belief and for many years a member of its choir. Up to her eightieth year her devoted rehearsals of its choir every Saturday night at her home. The funeral was held at her late home Monday at 2.30 o'clock, with Rev. Ashley A. Smith of Bangor officiating and Mrs. Edwin P. Frost singing the soprano solo, "Lead Kindly Light." The interment was in the family lot in Grove cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. Chas. P. Hazeltine, Charles S. Bickford, Thomas W. Lothrop and Sherman G. Swift.

THE BELFAST TEACHERS' CLUB.

The first fall meeting of the Belfast Teachers' Club was held Wednesday evening, Sept. 27th, in the North Belfast church vestry, Head of the Tide. It was one of the largest gatherings in the history of the club as all but three of the teachers were present. Mrs. Virgie Wentworth, Miss Ada Webster, Mrs. Carrie Wood and Miss Ora Danforth, teachers at the Head of the Tide, Poor's Mills and Citypoint served a most bountiful and delicious picnic supper.

After all had done ample justice to the supper, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Maude F. Townsend, president of the club for the present year. She spoke of some of the things the club hoped to do this year and urged all members to cooperate.

Superintendent Roderick, as delegate of the club to the National Educational Association, gave a general report of the meetings, which he found very interesting and helpful.

Mr. Roderick is now prepared to have the teachers register for the Maine Teachers' Association and is anxious that Belfast's registration and attendance shall be one hundred per cent this year. He advises all teachers to support and attend, if possible, both the N. E. A. and the M. T. A.

The Belfast Club has a committee appointed for each month of the school year and is looking forward to some very interesting and entertaining meetings.

A rising vote of thanks was extended the committee of the evening for their splendid service.

The club also feels very grateful for the use of the large and commodious vestry, one of the best in the city, which made an ideal place for such an occasion.

The next regular meeting of the club will be at the high school on Wednesday evening, Oct. 19th.

MRS. MARY E. HUBBARD.

For several years of her early life she taught school, but in 1868 came to Belfast and learned the tailors trade. Feb. 23, 1870, she married Calvin A. Hubbard, now deceased. Her nearest relatives are two nephews, D. E. Carey of Greeley, Colo., and Dr. J. D. Carey of Fort Collins, Colo. Miss Lucy A. "New occasions teach new duties;
Time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still, and onward
Who would keep abreast of Truth.
Lo, before us gleam the camp fires
We ourselves must flame as
Leaves our Mayflower, and steer boldly
Through the desperate winter sea,
Nor attempt the future's portal
With the Past's blood-rusted key."
—James Russell Lowell

"However the battle is ended,
Though proudly the victor comes
With fluttering flags and prancing nags
And echoing roll of drums;
Still truth proclaims her motto
In letters of living light—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right."

Though the heel of the strong oppressor
May grind the weak in the dust,
And the voices of fame with one acclaim
May call him great and just;
Let those who applaud take warning
And keep this motto in sight—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right."

Let those who have failed take courage,
Though the enemy seems to have won;
Though his ranks are strong, if he be in
The wrong
The battle is not yet done;
For sure as the morning follows
The darkest hour of the night,
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right."

THE INJUNCTION

Judge Wilkerson presiding at the Federal District Court in Chicago, after holding hearings and taking evidence, issued an injunction against railroad strikers enjoining them as individuals against violence or other unlawful acts and holding the unions to which they belong responsible therefor. This is a "temporary injunction" and the end is not yet. Already steps are being taken to appeal to a higher court, the appellants hoping to get a decision against an injunction of any sort. There is likely to be a long drawn out legal battle before it is decided whether we shall have a permanent injunction or none.

In the hearings before Judge Wilkerson the evidence clearly showed and it was not denied, that the officers of the shopmen's unions gave orders to strike and gave direction as to how the strike should be carried on and that there was co-operation on the part of the leaders. That there have been more than a hundred instances of assault, violence, sabotage and other unlawful acts during the strike is a well-known fact. It is claimed, and no doubt it is true, that many of these infractions of law are not chargeable to the railroad men but the records of the injunction hearings prove beyond doubt that the leaders of the union combinations, after two months of violence and disorder and, knowing that some of their followers were guilty of some of these intolerable acts, repeatedly sent out bulletins and communications urging them to greater activity. Critics of President Harding, Atty. Gen. Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson for instituting the injunction proceedings should remember that these proceedings were undertaken for the sole purpose of protecting the property, the persons and the lives of the people of the United States. The pains and penalties of this injunction can never be inflicted upon the peaceful and law abiding.

This injunction applies also to those who seek to do bodily injury to any man who is at work for a railroad, those who threaten the lives and the homes of railroad employees who are working for an honest living. It affects those who in cite or conspire riots for the purpose of destroying property, injuring individuals, or to defy lawful authority. It applies to those who by violence or conspiracy interfere with the operations of railroads engaged in the transportation of mails, passengers and property. It has for its purposes the protection of the traveling public, to keep food and fuel moving and to keep products of industry moving so that the mills, factories and workshops of the nation will not be shut down and millions of workmen will be out of employment and famine stare them and their families in the face.

Certainly there is nothing in any of the above injunction restraints that circumscribes the freedom of any honest man or that oppresses him in any way. The leaders of the shopmen and some of the members of the unions have repeatedly said that their men have not engaged in any unlawful acts, and the violence and other unlawful acts which have been perpetrated were committed by vicious people who have no connection with their organization. If that is true, why does Mr. Gompers and other leaders, and some of their followers, rage against the injunction? It would be vastly more to their credit if they would join with the courts and assist it in apprehending and punishing those who have, as they assert, been the really guilty.

As time goes on we Americans become more helpless. Already the government has stepped in to show our wives, mothers and grandmothers how to wash dishes and make fish hash.

Science Discovers That Vitamins are Absolutely Essential to Health

FRUIT JUICES A SOURCE OF VITAMINES

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" the wonderful Fruit Medicine is Rich in Health-Giving Vitamins

Thousands of men and women are falling off in health and vigor because the food they eat is lacking in one element, without which they cannot keep fit. This element is Vitamin. Ordinary meats and fish do not contain it. Milk is not rich in it. Manufactured foods have the Vitamins destroyed in the process of manufacture. Some fruit juices are rich in Vitamins. A careful examination of experiments conducted by both British and American authorities shows that Oranges contain an abundance of both "B" and "C" Vitamins and Apples contain a relatively large amount of these vital substances.

Why is it that "Fruit-a-tives" gives such marvellous results in overcoming Constipation, Impure Blood, Starved Nerves and a rundown system?

Because "Fruit-a-tives" is a true fruit medicine—the only medicine in the world made from intensified fruit juices. "Fruit-a-tives" is rich in the "B" and "C" Vitamins, derived from the juices of oranges and apples. To take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly, is to supply the system with the Vitamins which are needed and which are absolutely necessary to health.

A biography of Ex-Secretary of War Newton D. Baker appears in a recent edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. In one paragraph of this biography the writer says:

"After the outbreak of the World War he endorsed the administration's peace policy, supported the League to Enforce Peace, and urged that the National Guard be tried fully before compulsory service be decided upon. After America entered the war he recommended moderation toward conscientious objectors and forbade men in uniform to interfere with anti-conscription meetings. The charge of pacifism was often brought against him and his career generally as Secretary was widely condemned throughout the United States as lacking in energy, foresight and ability and especially for his failure to prepare adequately in the months immediately preceding the American declaration of war."

This statement of facts is said to have aroused Mr. Baker's indignation. In private life Mr. Baker seems to be an amiable man and in most respects an admirable one. But his record as Secretary of War, from and after his appointment, March 9, 1916, discloses so many colossal failures and so much monumental inefficiency, that every one familiar with that record must be convinced that the writer of the above paragraph dealt very gently with Mr. Baker, very gently indeed.

President Harding's veto of the Bonus Bill has met with hearty approval from a long list of the leading and ablest of the newspapers of the United States. We presume there are many newspapers which do not approve, but very few of them have said so. A new bonus bill has been presented in the Senate, but there is little likelihood that any consideration will be given it until some time next winter. The elections will then be over and it may be that the next Congress will be less enthusiastic for a bonus than the members of the present Congress have been. The new bill makes no provision for paying a bonus and it is a safe wager that President Harding will veto it unless it provides the money with which it is to be paid.

The Ohio legislature convened in special session about three weeks ago and in a message at its opening Governor Davis said that no longer ago than last March Ohio coal was offered at the mine for $1.74 a ton and that the price asked now was $5.50 a ton (soft coal) and that some dealers were demanding $7.50 a ton. He added that the coal operators said they made these advances in order to make up their losses during the strike. We have had much sympathy for the miners but we have none for the operators. We believe they have been reaping unwarranted profits for years, and it is certain that the above prices are nothing short of an attempted holdup.

A new political party representing the interests of the working masses and controlled by organizations in the American labor movement is being advocated. Mr. Gompers has openly favored the scheme and in the annual convention of the International Typographical Union, held a short time ago, a resolution was passed endorsing it. A new party organized under radical leadership will draw to its support the anarchists of the country and some of the working men, not more than 10 per cent, and will not long survive.

Mr. Lane, our Maine Fuel Director, predicts that the price of anthracite coal in Maine this winter will be about the same as last winter. On the other hand the coal operators are said to have predicted that the price will be higher than ever before. Mr. Lane has been an active and efficient director and doubtless will do all in his power to hold prices down, but he is working against a strong combination.

Shirts are longer but it is only eight more months to May. Something always happens to take the joy out of life, and about the same time we suppose another coal strike will be declared.

WINTER'S FORMAL SUITS

A very handsome formal suit, in one of the lustrous pile fabrics, consists of a medium-length coat and a one-piece dress which reaches nearly to the ankles. The dress has a round neck and long sleeves and its waist and sleeves are richly embroidered in silk. The sleeves of the coat are shorter and are slashed, revealing a satin lining in a contrasting color. The wide chin collar is of natural squirrel fur. Velvet and other soft-faced fabrics invite rich and elaborate embroideries and the vogue of fur contributes another luxurious element to the composition of formal suits. They have advantages; the coats in many of them may be worn with any dress and the one-piece dress or skirt with costume blouse makes a handsome indoor toilette.

BOX COAT FUR TRIMMED

One of the soft-faced cloths in dark blue was chosen for this smart autumn suit. It is made with the regulation plain, straight skirt, a little shorter than ankle length, and has a box coat trimmed with silk braid. Like it in color, and gray caracul fur. The braid, in parallel rows, makes a band trimming from shoulder to hip line, and a border above the wide band of fur at the bottom.

DRESS OF SATIN CREPE

One of the new aspirants for favor this fall appears in a pretty dress of satin crepe embroidered with silk in self color. Its bodice suggests fitted lines and the skirt follows the circular style found among those sponsored by high authorities. It has a grade of black beads and the sleeves point with pride to a facing of crepe de chine, in a contrasting color.

TO FRAME LITTLE FACES

FOR THE YOUNGER MISS

No junior need look with envy on her older sister's coat, while fashion decrees garments like this one for her own wear. It is a small replica of grown-up coats, and with the younger alone will make a hit on the sleeves miss. She will note on the sleeves that when to the wrist and on the chin collar of fur or fur fabric, and her joy will be completed by the silk tassels that end the long strap girder.

MANY NEW STYLE POINTS

Bearing the hallmark of the new season's styles this handsome dress of tricotine invites attention to its novel features. They include a row of little silver buttons on the bloused bodice, sleeves narrow at the top, flaring and split below the elbow, where they are faced with checked silk and edged with tabs of silk braid and silver buttons. A full satin panel, finished with deep silk fringe and embroidery of colored beads and silk, falls from a corresponding ornament at the waistline, and finishes a remarkably smart design. These large and brilliant ornaments at the line of the girder, or holding the drapery, make the only decoration needed on gowns of metalasse and other decorative, newly arrived fabrics.

THE TOUCH THAT TELLS

Happy the woman who knows the value of accessories—and how to use them. They are the finishing touches that make or mar and add variety and flavor to apparel. The knack lies in picking out good ones and in wearing them one or two at a time. There is a list, too long to print; neckwear, veils and bags are with us every year, fans now and then, earrings especially, rings and necklaces always. Just now, earrings and fancy combs are in the spotlight—earrings have reached the limit in length and combs can grow no larger. Lace, gauze and fancy fans crowd the feather fan in favor, girdles claim much attention, necklaces flourish everywhere and face veils dawn again on fashion's horizon.

NEW VACCINE IN PNEUMONIA

A harmless vaccine treatment, requiring three injections at intervals of four or five days, has proved its value in the epidemic of pneumonia that accompanied the wake of influenza sweeping New York. This vaccine, developed by Dr. Park, director of the Bureau of Laboratories, was distributed to public dispensaries and private physicians as fast as the city laboratories could produce it. It gives protection in a very large number of cases and, where an attack does follow its use, it is usually a mild one.—In Scientific American.

A WISE ABSTENTION.

The American Legion is to be congratulated from keeping out of politics. Undoubtedly would be a tremendous force in molding the affairs of government if it chose to throw its weight into the elections, but it is to the best interests of the organization, as well as of the country, that it abstain from seeking the control of candidates. Proof of the freedom of the electorate from Legion influence is furnished in the Michigan primary where a former commander of the organization sought the Senatorial nomination, but polled only about one-eighth of the total vote cast.

Our Tariff See-Saw

Did you ever see a household where the cry arose that it was too cold, on which someone went down stairs to stoke the furnace; and then, in a short time, the assertion came forth with equal force that the house was too hot and that the windows must be opened; this in turn followed in quick sequence by a cold house, the closing of the windows, and another dash down stairs to stir up the furnace? You have probably witnessed just such a succession of events.

We as a people are doing exactly the same thing with regard to our tariff. We cry out one moment over unemployment, occasioned, as we believe, by the too ready ingress of foreign goods; and we demand a larger measure of protection. We change parties to get it. This is a long process, usually four years in its course. No sooner have we accomplished that purpose than we cry out against the tariff and proceed on a four years' journey towards its demolition.

Today it is undoubtedly the popular thing to decry the tariff which has now received the President's signature. It is exactly the kind of a tariff we knew the Republicans would enact, and that the President himself would sign, when by seven million majority we decided to entrust them with that responsibility. If we should undo it by a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President, we should then let no grass grow under our feet until we undertook, by the same process that we have come through in putting Mr. Harding and the Republican administration in power, to reverse operations.

Have we no capacity as a people for continuity of thought? Must we always be pushing up the window or stirring up the furnace in alternate succession? Can we not remember our experiences for long enough to allow them to do us any good?—Boston Herald.

MAINE ITEMS

The Preble House, for 62 years one of Portland's leading hotels, has closed its doors. The house is locked up for the first time in over a half century. The lease of the hotel has expired and it is impossible to renew it. In all probability the building, which is now a prominent part of Monument Square, will be remodeled into apartments or stores. The Preble House was opened as a hotel 62 years ago in what was, up to that time, the residence of Commodore Preble. More modern hostels were constructed in later years, but the Preble House always held its popularity with many travelers and business men.

He is 85 years of age, but that doesn't hinder Dr. George A. Wheeler of Castine from beginning the study of the Russian language. This is his seventh language. He is the author of a history of Castine, said to be one of the best examples of what local history should be.

A building boom will take place at Five Islands next season. A number are planning to erect new cottages there. Another summer the cottages at that place will be all supplied with water from the well drilled by Andrew S. Merrill to the depth of 150 feet.

Down in Sagadahoc county, the cranberry home, the report is that the cranberry crop will be light this fall. This is sad news for the housewife, because what is Thanksgiving turkey or chicken without the ever-present cranberry sauce in abundance. With the berries scarce that means that the price will be high.

A large bull moose held up traffic on the road to Kingfield recently. An approaching automobile party, thinking the animal would get up from his reclining position in all haste at their approach, was obliged to jam on the brakes to avoid running onto him. Game Warden Arthur Wright was called into the case and went to the scene of the hold up. It appeared that the animal had been injured in some way in one shoulder. One antler was gone and he seemed much exhausted. He was driven to the Ledge House, placed in the yard overnight, but walked off in the morning.

ALFRED STINSON.

Alfred Stinson, one of the well known Civil War veterans of Waldo County, passed away at his home in North Searsport, Wednesday morning, Sept. 27th, after being in poor health for about eight months. The immediate cause of his death was paralysis. He was born in Prospect in July, 1842, the son of Joseph and Hannah (Crocker) Stinson, but the greater part of his life was spent in North Searsport. His widow, Miss Carrie A. Pattee of Monroe, one son, Frederick Stinson, one daughter, Mrs. Carrie Spaulding, and one granddaughter, Miss Evelyn Spaulding, all of North Searsport, survive to mourn the loss of a most devoted husband and indulgent father. About five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Stinson observed their golden wedding, also his 75th birthday. The Belfast Journal has lost one of its most loyal friends and valued contributors. He enlisted in 1862 in Company E of the 10th Maine Infantry, and served in the Battle of Gettysburg; was in the Battle of the Wilderness, of Chancellorsville and many others. He was a most ardent admirer of Lincoln and one of his favorite stories at the G. A. R. meetings was that of seeing him under fire near Washington. Before returning home from the war he was detailed for some time at Elmira, N. Y., to guard rebel prisoners. Always young in spirit, thoughtful in a high degree, a fluent speaker and writer, he has done much to keep the history of those years fresh in the minds of later generations. He was one of the charter members of the Waldo County Veterans' Association, served for three years as its president and for about 28 years as its secretary, and held that office at the time of his death. He had served as Master of Comet and Granite Granges, also master of the North Waldo Post. He was a past commander of Freeman McGilvery Post, G. A. R. of Searsport, a past president of the Clough Charitable Veterans' Association of Unity. For many years he was a justice of the peace. The funeral was held at the church in North Searsport with Rev. W. L. Winslade, pastor of the Methodist church officiating. Rev. N. F. Atwood of the Searsport Methodist church officiating. There was a large attendance to pay a tribute to a good man and a brave soldier. There were 22 veterans present at the funeral with four of them honorary bearers; who belonged to his company in the regiment—James Sweetser and Herbert Scribner of Searsport; also Fred L. Palmer of Monroe and Johnson Trask of Newburg. The latter two are members of the Waldo County Veterans' Association, Mr. Trask its president. The active bearers were Edwin Clements, Willis Baker, W. L. Carter and Percy Harriman, all of Searsport.

The Waldo County Sunday School Convention.

The annual convention of the Waldo County Sunday School Association was held in the Methodist church in Searsport Thursday afternoon and evening. In the morning, the meeting was called to order by Rev. Harold LeMay of Searsport, who led the devotional hour, and the county president, Rev. N. F. Atwood of Searsport gave the address of welcome, made some suggestions for the future work, and appointed committees on resolutions, nomination and resolutions, reports, and an address was given by Rev. Alexander Henderson of Waterbury on "Task of the church in Religious Education." Adjournment was then made for lunch and the social hour and Rev. E. E. Harrison of Searsport led the devotional services in the afternoon. Mr. T. J. Winslade of Calais, on the State superintendent, spoke on "Laying Foundations," and Rev. D. H. Brewster, State secretary, spoke on "Some Methods of Teaching Training."

The nomination committee presented the following list of officers for the ensuing year and the same were elected: county president, Rev. N. F. Atwood, Searsport; vice president, Rev. E. E. Harrison, Searsport; secretary and treasurer, Miss Abbie C. Chase, Searsport; auditor, Orlando E. Frost, Belfast; superintendent Children's division, Miss Ethel Anderson, Searsport; Young People's division, Mrs. Benjamin L. Robertson, Belfast; teachers' training, Rev. Harold LeMay, Searsport; missionary Mrs. Nathan Hunt, Morrill; temperance, Mrs. Annie M. Frost, Belfast; Adult division, Mrs. S. L. Porter, Searsport.

The County secretary, Mrs. Annie M. Frost, of Belfast, in her service for the past 10 years, preferred that someone else take up the work and she was given a rising vote of thanks for service rendered. It was voted that she be the delegate to the State convention to be held in Augusta the middle of October, with her expert knowledge of the State convention, and she had held this position in Somerset county for some years, before coming to Belfast, so she certainly had done her part, it was felt. She spoke a few words of appreciation and thanks for the courtesy extended to her. Mr. Brewster of Portland then made the State convention and urged a large attendance. Adjournment was made for two conferences, one conducted by Mr. Brewster, and the other by Mrs. Winslade. Mr. Porter's class of young ladies gave a demonstration of organized class work, which proved most interesting and Mrs. Brewster gave an address on "Early History of the Sunday school work." Adjournment was made for supper and social hour.

At the Methodist Church last Sunday morning there was presented to everyone present a sprig of Scottish heather, fresh from Montrose, Scotland, and sent to the pastor for such distribution by the Scottish evangelist, Miss Frances B. Adams. Miss Adams is to begin a series of revival meetings in the Methodist Church next Sunday morning, and continuing daily until further notice. She is an ordained minister and is very successful in her labors. In her labors at the church in Hodgden the interest warranted shutting down the mills that the men might hear her message, and many were converted. At Rumford, Me., the local press announced that the interest in the meetings "is so great that the services are being continued over Sunday, Sept. 26th. On one evening at that campaign 30 went forward to the altar." The Boston Post, in a broadside presentation of Miss Adams' meetings in that city, as reported by J. R. Milne, says, "Boston heard another evangelist last week—Miss Frances B. Adams she speaks softly. The appeal to man's better nature is the big stick she wields." The public is cordially invited to these services. All day on Sunday and on each evening of the week. Further announcements will follow. Look for the subjects of Miss Adams' sermons, as announced from time to time.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH. Rev. George C. Sauer, pastor; residence, 13 Cedar. Telephone 123-11.

The appointed services of this church will be held at 10.45 and 7.30 on Sunday with Bible school at 12 o'clock, and Christian Endeavor Society at 6.30. The mid-week service Thursday evening at 7.30. Next Sunday morning the sermon theme will be: "The Man who Knocked at Midnight," Luke 9. At the evening service of Song and Praise the singing will be led by the chorus choir and orchestra. Everyone is cordially invited. Appointments for the week: Boys' meeting Monday evening at 13 Cedar street, with the Scoutmaster. Thursday evening, Stewardship service, "Simoniades, the Steward," in Ben Hur and the Christian Steward of today. Friday evening, indoor picnic and social at the Bible school. Interesting and pleasing stunts by various classes of the school. A collation will be served. Young and old cordially invited.

To all who mourn and need comfort—to all who are tired and need rest—to all who are lonely and want companionship—to all who are homeless and need sheltering love—to all who pray and to all who do not yet pray—to all who need a Saviour—and to who-soever will, this church opens wide its doors and in the name of Jesus the Lord says—WELCOME.

THE FEDERATED CHURCH. Rev. W. F. Skerry, minister; residence 26 High street; telephone, 86-4. Please do not fail to telephone the minister of any case of illness or distress where his service may be helpful. Sunday morning service at 10.45; sermon topic, "The Blind Men." A cordial invitation is extended to all. Here let no man be stranger. "Whoever thou art that enterest this church, leave it not without a prayer for thyself, for him who ministers, and for those who worship here." Sunday school immediately after the morning service. It will be a help to the children if the grown up folks will come in for the opening exercises, and then remain as members of the adult class. In as far as we sincerely desire to have our children reared for Christian citizenship and service, let us make the fact manifest by our active presence when possible.

Too slowly the world of affairs learns that love, as taught in the New Testament, is the only power that can save the world from self destruction. Too slowly men in high places are beginning to believe that platitudes, policies, and activities proceed from states of mind. It is beginning to be seen, and admitted, that as long as men or nations allow prejudice, ignorance and inertia to govern their minds, instead of the desire for knowledge and the pursuit of friendship, the spirit of discord will live. The following from the Literary Digest is pertinent:

"While new war clouds are lowering over the Near East and threatening to involve the whole of Europe, it is worth noting that the World Alliance or International Friendship through the churches has recently in Copenhagen its Christian unity instead of statecraft as a means toward permanent peace. Nearly two hundred delegates were gathered in the Danish city. In the words of one American they deeply impressed our delegates with 'the fact that constructive measures of far reaching significance such as Christianity has never before realized were consummated.' Among them was a resolution proposed jointly by the French and German delegates that 'the churches of the world strive together for the attainment of universal peace, which cannot be successfully realized without both mental and spiritual disarmament.'"

The Light-Six

Now $975

So far this year Studebaker has built and sold more cars than during the entire year of 1921. And 1921, in spite of a general business depression, was the biggest year in Studebaker's 70 years' history.

This steady volume of business, plus the savings resulting from Studebaker's methods of complete manufacture, reduces manufacturing and selling costs. And it is a Studebaker policy of long standing to share these savings with the customer. Hence, the new low prices.

That's why you can buy a Studebaker Light-Six today at its new low price of $975—the lowest price for which it has ever sold and the lowest at which a car of such quality was ever offered.

Only the price is reduced. Quality is better than ever.

Stop in and see the Light-Six. Let us demonstrate its easy handling, its lack of vibration, its great comfort. Let us prove its endurance. Then drive it yourself.

Cowl lights; cowl ventilator; high-grade, nickel-plated combination robe and hand-rail across back of front seat; thief-proof transmission lock; large rectangular plate glass in rear curtain; 9-inch seat cushions of genuine leather; 40 H.P. motor with inclined valves and internal hot spot.

MRS. ARABELLA P. THOMPSON

The death of Mrs. Arabella P. Thompson, widow of Capt. Benjamin Thompson, occurred Wednesday night in Winterport after an illness of several months. Mrs. Thompson, who had spent the winter in Malden, Mass., returned here in the early summer. During her illness she had been devotedly cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Louise T. Williams, and granddaughter, Miss F. Hilda Williams. A sister, Mrs. Alice Vianello, lives in California. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Dunham of Winterport, her father being a well-known shipbuilder, and was a woman of culture and refinement. As a member of the Congregational church she was always much interested in its activities. Her keen intellect, sincerity and loyalty to friends endeared her to many. With her husband, Capt. Benjamin Thompson, who was well known in many foreign ports, she made many voyages and collected valuable souvenirs of their travels. She had sailed around the world a number of times and could interestingly tell of her experiences. During the Civil War Capt. Thompson captured several valuable prizes. A valued souvenir in the Thompson home is a recommendation by Admiral Farragut to Capt. Thompson. Her age was 85 years, 9 months and 25 days. Funeral services were held in the Congregational church Friday afternoon, F. W. Haley has charge of the arrangements.

Local sportsmen report a scarcity of partridge and woodcock. The fall flight of the latter is not begun.

Hawks and Mrs. C. W. Thatcher, beautiful flowers were in profusion about the house, tastefully arranged by the ladies. One hundred and fifty persons of all ages availed themselves of this occasion to pay their respects to Mr. Mills after his absence of several years as registrar at Robert college, Constantinople. On account of the parsonage being so crowded and everybody talking and having a good time, it was impossible to much as suggest such a thing as a talk from the guest of honor, which was a disappointment to many. Delicious ice cream was served along with 'fifty seven' varieties of cake, the product of the best cake makers in the land. The reception lasted from 8:30 to 10:30 and there was not a moment when anybody had a dull time. An orchestra consisting of Mrs. A. W. TO SET HERRIN RIGHT.

(New York Times)

The findings and presentation of the Illinois Grand Jury, after its thorough investigation of the Herrin massacre, ought to be thought of as "duty reading" by all Americans. Here they hear of hundreds of Americans, the causes, origin and success of the massacre, the lawless and bloody steps as ever disgraced the annals of any country. The Grand Jury seeks to hold the scales even. It does not overlook the provocative action of the armed guards at the mine. It denounces in fitting terms the indifference and criminal negligence of the Sheriff of Williamson County, who, in the face of repeated warnings took no measures to safeguard the lives of men working in the strip mines. But the burden of the Grand Jury's charges falls most heavily on the shoulders of the workers who accepted and offered their lives to cold blooded and atrocious murder in a spirit of ruthlessness and ferocity that a Turk at Smyrna might envy as something beyond him.

If the narrative thus officially set forth is enough to shame and sicken Americans, then of knowing that a fearless Judge and a resolute Grand Jury have done their best to uncover this awful crime and to punish the criminals. Forty-eight indictments have been returned. It is now for the courts to show that they have the courage and vigor to bring the guilty men to justice. The whole country, anxious to remove what must be in the eyes of sober minded citizens as well as of foreigners a national reproach, will watch the procedure with the keenest interest.

Within the Jurisdiction.

It is well remarked by a prominent periodical that "Lawful authority has been too much engaged in attempting to do things outside its jurisdiction to do vigorously the things within its jurisdiction." It might also have been added that if officialdom will but wait for authority to do the things that ought to be done, the authority can usually be found.

We have a case in mind at the moment. Some months ago the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated at Washington, and while President Harding was delivering an address an aviator flew over the audience so low as to drown the President's voice and scatter the people so that the ceremony was spoiled. The local police officials complained that they were powerless as Congress had not enacted a law regulating aviation. As a matter of fact, they could have punished the man for disturbing a public meeting.

Practically all the evils of picketing could be punished under statutes or ordinances that have been in force for years. Because a man is a picket for an organization of strikers does not give him any special privileges. He has no right to stop pedestrians on the public streets against their will; he has no right to trespass on private property; he has no right to make a public nuisance of himself; he has no right to commit acts that tend to provoke violence; he has no right to carry concealed weapons; he has no right to use vile and abusive language. All that is needed is a body of public officials actuated by a real desire to protect the law-abiding from the outlaws.

SENATOR LAFOLLETTE

(From Courier-Gazette)

What all patriotic Americans feared, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin has been renominated in the Republican primaries of that State. Senator LaFollette is a poor Republican. He has opposed his party in almost everything it has undertaken in the United States Senate. So far as being a Republican is concerned his party might well get along without him. In fact, a good, patriotic Democrat in his place would be a blessing to the country.

LaFollette is a Socialist crank, and during the war displayed tendencies far from patriotic. Wisconsin is cursed with a large radical and communistic element in its population, an element that is also of considerable strength in the North Central West, particularly in Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota. The latter State has for several years been under the blight of Townsleyism, and the rule of the Non-Partisan League, which at one time had, and still to a considerable extent has, control of the Republican party. Senator LaFollette has been the outside force of most of what radical legislation the Senate has passed, and has upheld the doctrine of extreme socialism, so dangerous to the welfare of this country and its government. He is a radical, a revolutionary and a dangerous demagogue, and if his Democratic opponent is in any sense a patriotic citizen, we hope he will be elected.

K. I. WORKS R. R. DISCONTINUED

Operations on the Brownville branch of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad were permanently discontinued on Monday, Sept. 25, this decision by the railroad management having been approved, following investigation by the Public Utilities Commission of Maine and Interstate Commerce Commission of the federal Government.

This branch is nine miles long, connecting Katahdin Iron Works with the main line at Brownville. It was discontinued because the vast deposits of low grade iron ore at Katahdin Iron Works have not been worked for years, and there has been a practical cessation of lumbering and pulp wood shipments—the expense of operation, therefore, exceeding gross receipts.

One train a day, combined passenger and freight, was run from either end of the line. It is understood that there is a likelihood in Maine railway systems petitioning for permission to discontinue certain other branch lines now operated at a dead loss.

NEW YORK TO BAR HARBOR IN 5 HOURS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Buckminster Fuller's Actual Flying Time is 4 3/4 Hours.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Buckminster Fuller of Lawrence L. I., N. Y., and Bear Island, Penobscot Bay, stopped in Bar Harbor, Saturday on a two weeks flying cruise in the Vincent Astor's Loening Mono-sea-plane. Their total flying time from New York to Bar Harbor was four and three quarters hours.

DEEPER THAN THE GRAND CANYON

A geological expedition has been dispatched from the University of California to explore the canyon of the Snake River, the world's deepest rock cleft. It is deeper than the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and in many respects more remarkable. So far it has been practically inaccessible. There are no trails down the sides and the river cannot be navigated. In its deepest and most rugged portion, between Seven Devils range and the Wallawa, it is from 6000 to 7000 feet deep. At one point it is 9000 feet from the boiling surface of the Snake River to a snow capped peak of the range. It is seven miles across the top. The cross section of this cut is a marvelous study for the geologist. The top layer is of basalt and mineralized with prospects of copper, silver and gold, but the expense of exploitation has been so far too great. The Snake River is a succession of whirlpools and cascades, making it unnavigable, and the expedition is taking advantage of the lowest water in a decade to make the exploration.

AN ILLUSTRATION

If any one meeting Samuel Gompers in a street, should step in front of him to impede his progress, and after he had stepped aside to evade the obstacle, should repeat the process, or by any other means should endeavor to prevent Mr. Gompers from going where he intended and wanted to go, such a person could and would be arrested and punished.

Yet, to put obstructions in the way of men going to work, and prevent them from proceeding to their destination, is the purpose of strike pickets, and they claim that to do that is a right that they have.

Their argument is, that because they are strikers, they have special rights and privileges which they would not claim or try to exercise if they were working, and exercise of which, if they attempted it, would get them into trouble.

They disregard the American principle of equality of all persons before the law.—Albany (N. Y.) Journal.

MIGHT HAVE SHOT AN ANGEL

Vice President Coolidge tells a good story illustrating the experience of the authorities in having in Massachusetts in breaking up pistol toting.

A tough bird was haled before a judge, charged with firing a pistol on the sidewalk. It was clearly proven by the testimony that he had imbibed much bootleg whiskey and discharged his pistol on a crowded street.

"Thirty dollars and costs," severely announced the judge.

"But your honor," interrupted counsel for the prisoner, "my client did not hit any one."

"You admit he fired the gun, don't you?"

"Yes, but he fired into the air," explained the lawyer.

"Thirty dollars and costs," angrily repeated the judge. "He might have shot an angel."

JAPAN KEEPING FAITH

Japan is steadily carrying out her part of the agreements arrived at at the Washington armaments conference. The evacuation of Siberia by Japanese troops is now under way, and it will not be long before that menace to world peace will have been removed. The arrangements drawn up at Washington and their practical application should serve as an object lesson to Europe. The surrender by Japan of the hold she had obtained in China and Siberia was no easier for her than the sacrifice of some of the cherished objects of European nations would be to them. But Japan consented to her withdrawals in the interest of peace. Strikingly similar situations are to be treated in a similar fashion. It is that course were adopted we would see a speedy end to much of the trouble that now distracts the Old World.

Dahlias are growing high this year. The Warren garden boasts of a dahlia plant which is 11 feet and 4 inches up into the air. It is still growing and they say it is of the Irish variety.

HUGH WING, ISLAND FALLS.

On Friday morning, Sept. 15, occurred the death of Hugh Wing at his home on the Patten road, Island Falls, at the age of 72 years. Mr. Wing moved to this town from Thorndike, 46 years ago, buying the farm where he has always lived. Mr. Wing was a man of exemplary habits, strictly honest in all his transactions, a man whose word was as good as a bond. He had never known a day's sickness till about six weeks before his death when he suffered a slight shock and had always been a very hard working man. Mr. Wing was twice married, his first wife being Dorra Lord of Thorndike and his second wife, Agnes Wilber of Crystal. He leaves two children by his latter marriage, Herbert and Mary; two brothers, Edgar of Albion and William of Augusta, besides several nephews and cousins. Funeral services were held at his home Sunday afternoon and were very largely attended showing the high esteem in which Mr. Wing was held in this vicinity. The burial was in his family lot in the local cemetery. Those from out of town called by Mr. Wing's sickness and death were Edward Wing of Albion, William Wing of Augusta, Joseph Wing, Mrs. Florence Cates and Mrs. Grace Leonard of Thorndike.

THE COAL SITUATION IN MAINE.

AUGUSTA, Sept. 21. Governor Percival P. Baxter, state fuel administrator, and Andrew P. Lane, fuel director, to Philadelphia a few days ago to make personal investigations of the hard coal situation. Mr. Lane has been in consultation with large operators and dealers and sends an imperative message to Gov. Baxter.

Mr. Lane reports that four of the large anthracite coal companies have already shipped anthracite coal by rail and by barges to points in Maine. This message means that some anthracite coal will soon be available for Maine consumers. It will not be possible to deliver more than a small quantity to each customer, but such coal as comes will be distributed equitably from time to time. The amount for each customer will be limited and there will not be enough to go around.

Governor Baxter urges householders and other consumers to put in small quantities of a good grade of bituminous coal to carry them through the early part of the winter. Gov. Baxter believes that many householders will find that bituminous coal is more economical and that some of them will doubtless prefer it to anthracite. Many of the states use bituminous coal exclusively. This, it is felt, would tend somewhat to relieve the pressure of the anthracite market and will tend to keep down prices.

CALVIN COOLIDGE'S GREAT HOPE FOR AMERICAN FAMILIES.

Vice-President Coolidge, a member of "Better Homes in America" Advisory Council, says:

"Under present conditions any ambition of America to become a nation of home owners would be by no means impossible of fulfillment. The land is available, the materials are at hand, the necessary accumulation of credit exists, the courage, the endurance and the sacrifice of the people are not wanting. Let them begin, however slender their means, the building and perfecting of the national character by the building and adorning of a home which shall be worthy of the habitation of an American family calm in the assurance that 'the gods send bread for a web begun.'"

"Here will be found that satisfaction which comes from possession and achievement. Here is the opportunity to express the soul in art. Here is the sacred influence, here in the earth at our feet, around the hearthstone, which raises man to his true estate."

Vice-President Coolidge is intensely interested in the "Better Homes in America" Campaign that is being conducted now all over the country.

Catching Teacher.

Jimmy giggled when the teacher read the story of a man who swam a river three times before breakfast.

"You do not doubt that a trained swimmer could do that, do you?"

"No, sir," replied Jimmy, "but I wonder why he did not make it four, and get back to the side where his clothes were."

Following this they went to the home of some of Mrs. Leach's people, where they indulged in a picnic dinner on the shore. About 4 they left Castine, sailing around the wreck of the schooner Alice Clark off Islesboro on the way home. The Gertrude

B. is the finely equipped power boat recently presented to Damon Shannon and Richard Crosby jointly by their uncle, Mr. Leslie Bennett of Massachusetts.

Mr. Will Harding reached town from Stonington Saturday in response to a summons announcing the critical illness of his mother, Mrs. Justina Harding. Her daughter, Miss Oriana Harding, also arrived from Massachusetts, but owing to both wireless and cables being out of commission they could not get in touch with her son, Perry Harding, at Swan Island. Saturday afternoon Dr. Sanger of Bangor was called in consultation and at 3.30 they took Mrs. Harding to the Eastern Maine General Hospital at Bangor fearing an operation would be imperative. She stood the trip very well and at this writing seemed no worse, but somewhat improved.

Saturday marked another milestone in the years of Mrs. Frank A. Patterson and in the afternoon a few neighbors, Mrs. Eleanor B. Colcord, Mrs. Annie K. Harriman, Mrs. James H. Griffin and Mrs. L. S. Titcomb, gave her a birthday party, a tremendous surprise. They arrived by two, laden with "good things," which were quickly arranged upon the table ready for supper. Then followed a game of auction, interrupted by the arrival of the granddaughter, Mrs. George H. Hopkins, with ice cream for the company. When the husband arrived home he was loaded with fancy crackers, nuts, candy, etc., which, added to the delicious viands already provided, a large birthday cake from Mrs. Titcomb among other things, made a most tempting feast. It was a very pleasant occasion, none enjoying it more thoroughly than the surprised hostess.

Fred W. Wiley, only son of Mrs. Ethel White Wiley and the late Axel W. Wiley of this city, now gunner's mate with the U. S. S. Lawrence in the United States naval forces in Europe, writes home about his six-weeks' stay in Bulgaria, his visits in the different ports in the black sea, etc. "I think the Constantinople is the lowest and toughest city in the world. It has two million people. I have been on shore two or three times to see the city. Conditions in Russia are certainly all you read about and then some. Every one seems starving and they are dying by the hundreds. We were taken to the docks when young girls and old women would come down early every morning with cans for scraps, but we were not allowed to give to them as they would crowd the ship if we did. The people here will eat anything, and all of our scraps go to the hospitals. There is no use for money for there is nothing to buy. We have to look out for our clothes to the kids who live under the dock. We get liberty three times a week until midnight and we take soap ashore to swap for wine as we had to drink that instead of the water which is filled with cholera germs. The Bolsheviks are cruel all right. They burn large buildings and factories; put women in jail for not having jewelry, and do most everything. I wanted to send some cards from Odessa, but the Bolsheviks will not allow it.

At Samsum we found the ruins where the Greeks tried to take the place from the Turks, but all is quiet now. We got a plenty of fresh vegetable here, as they are more prosperous than in Russia, even if they are fighting half the time."

Under date of Sept. 11th, he says: "We are now in Smyrna, Asia; came to bring some Near East workers down from Turkey and also to protect American property. There has been a lot of fighting between the Turks and Greeks, but it is more quiet now. This place is worse than Russia. There are about 5,000 Greek refugees in barracks tied up very near us and none of them have had anything to eat for the last three days. The Turks took the place the day we arrived, killing the Greek soldiers right and left. Civilians, women and kids, rowed out to the ship and tied to the stern for protection, but we could do nothing for them. The Turks kill the people on the street and somebody will come along and push their bodies into the water. We are only a few yards from the main street which is on the water front, so we see everything that goes on. Believe me, it is some cruel. The Turks recently killed about 1,000 Armenians living here. Lots of women and girls drown themselves to escape from the Turks.

Every other night we go to the Dardanelles to send wireless messages to the United States."

A letter under date of Sept. 18th says: "We are still in Smyrna and the fighting must be nearly over as the place is burned up. There were about two million people here before the war began. I have seen things I never want to see again in my life. The Greeks were killed in every way imaginable by the Turks. Papers in the States stated only about one thousand were killed, but it seems to me as if it must be nearer seven or eight thousand. The only way the refugees can get out is by ships and there are only two or three of them available now. We have two boat loads now at our stern waiting for a ship. The Turks are a bunch of heathens. When the buildings were burning they would take four or five hundred Greeks and march them into the fires. We could not sleep on account of the women and girls screaming. A few very old ladies managed to reach our ship. We gave them dry clothing and sent them to the Standard Oil docks where they could stay until the arrival of some ships. It was all we could do for them."
